

Welcome from the Director

First, a huge thank you for coming to see Bispham CastAways Christmas pantomime, "The Beauty Sleeping" by Peter Nuttall, without your support we wouldn't be able to continue our mission to bring the benefits of live theatre to the community! This pantomime has been a wonderful play to direct and we hope you have great fun watching. The whole cast have been brilliant and unbelievably hard working, thank you so much for your dedication when acting, working backstage, coming down to make set, providing props, costumes and freezing in Stanley Park to create amazing pictures! Massive thanks must go to Ian Fleetwood for his ability to create fabulous set, sound and lighting out of little to no budget with his dedication and creativity. A big thank you to my co-director, Hayley Price, for the many ways she has helped me throughout, including running rehearsals and creating the sound effects.

I do have to say thank you to a few more special people...

Thank you to Peter Grant for his generous donation of the back cloth material.

Huge thanks to Gary Tunnicliffe for his donation of pens to create the back cloth design, producing the sign posts and set artwork.

A big thank you to Danny Cronin for donating his time and expertise in producing amazing professional photographs for us and if you want to see more visit his website at www.Kre8photographic.co.uk

The brilliant giant "foot jumper" was made by Annaliesa Gallagher, thank you so much.

Have a great night and enjoy the show!
